

Lenovo TruScale delivers your entire IT portfolio as a service.

It's a procurement, deployment and management solution borne of the new world of work.

Here are the critical factors shaping the future of your IT solutions.

The People

54%

of employees want to continue working from home

83%

say it's the optimal way of working

The world of hybrid working is driving demand for more flexibility, as well as customizable and scalable solutions.

More than ever, work is what people do, not where they are.

But IT has to work reliably and securely, wherever people are doing what they need to do.

The Technology

72%

of CIOs plan to maintain or increase the proportion of IT sourced to third parties.

"IT no longer just supports corporate operations but is fully participating in business value delivery..."

IT leaders don't want to manage devices, platforms, or infrastructure; they need to focus their teams' efforts on innovation.

IT is now the driver and enabler of business innovation and growth.

It's time to simplify budgeting, management and administration, liberating the IT team to deliver what the business needs

The Answer

Lenovo TruScale simplifies management and powers up IT from end-to-end

One vendor

Plan, procure, and run your entire infrastructure simply, with a single vendor through our global channel network.

IT on demand

Technology for the modern workplace, scaling and continuously performing to deliver the performance you need.

Constant ROI

No upfront capital costs for anything and a completely flexible, cloud-like consumption model, deployed behind the firewall.

Secure by nature

Lenovo's foundational security approach protects everything, everywhere, all the time.

Absolute control

Real-time insights that help drive efficiency, with less time in the weeds and more time for the big picture.

Implement new solutions with cloud-like on-premises functionality, and flexible, pay-as-you-go service models, with the control and security of an on-premises solution.

Lenovo TruScale

Everything-as-a-Service, from the pocket, to the core, to the cloud.

Get in touch to learn more about simple and predictable IT procurement and management, from a partner with global reach.